

WE NOMINATE

Robert Roswell Palmer, one of the great American historians of this century and a dedicated Princetonian since 1936, who this week startled his associates and admirers with his acceptance of a key administrative post in what has been described as the "most alive university in the Middle West," Washington University, St. Louis, Mo. The 53-year old Palmer in the year ahead will become Washington's first Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences, a position combining the responsibilities shouldered here by the University's veteran Dean of the Faculty, J. Douglas Brown, and in vester-year at Harvard by the fabled McGeorge Bundy, now of The White House advisory staff.

Known as a "historian's historian," and recently cap-sulated as this country's "most highly regarded historical scholar in European centers of learning," Palmer at this point in his career is in a sense turning his back on a remarkable record of achievement and is entering the uncharted areas of plotting the policies, personnel and departmental budgets for both a College of Liberal Arts and a Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. His present plans call for completing here the second volume of his monumental, and prize-winning, work, "The Age of the Democratic Revolution," and then departing for St. Louis.

The Chicago-born Palmer, a high honors graduate with the Class of 1931 at the University of Chicago and "a Cornell Ph.D. in 1931," is probably as widely read by lay readers as he is by fellow scholar-teachers. Where his "Age of the Democratic Revolution," one of the five Princeton-written works to merit the $3,000 Bancroft Prize over the past decade, was singled out for a $10,000 award from the American Council of Learned Societies, the Palmer-edited "Atlas of World History," cited by TOWN TOPICS nearly six years ago, was a new kind of standard reference work "giving a taut and yet graphic presentation of the sweep of world history from ancient civilizations to the end of World War II."

The "Palmer Atlas," culminating in 1957 four years of effort and marking the first time that such a book had been developed by a board of established historians, was so carefully done — with its 132 maps inter-leaved with explanatory text — that it won almost universal acclaim from the critics. For instance, in capitalizing upon modern map-making techniques, which seek to reduce confusing detail in order to sharpen the boldness of impact, Palmer and his associates succeeded in "mapping" the civilizations of the Western World and prepared special treatments of such phenomena as the Renaissance and the 18th Century's "Age of Enlightenment."

Vice-Chairman of the year-old Council of the Friends of the Princeton Public Library (see Mailbox), and a year ago narrowly defeated in the Borough School Board Elections, Palmer joined the University Faculty in 1936. During World War II, as a member of the War Department's Historical Section, he co-authored two volumes on the history of the U.S. Army ground forces and in 1952, two years following the publication of his 900-page "History of the Modern World," succeeded the now late Walter Phelps (Buzzer) Hall as Princeton's Dodge Professor of History, his department's second oldest endowed chair.

For his far-reaching contributions to oncoming generations' "deeper and broader understanding of an important part of the human past"; for his devotion to a craft which few men of his age serve with such distinction; for his enthusiastic acceptance of new challenges; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as Princeton's

NOTE ON WEDNESDAY
School Elections. Starting at 5 p.m. next Wednesday, Borough and Township voters will sign in at their election districts so they can pass on school budgets for the coming year and decide who will formulate educational policies on the community's two school boards.

It will be a contest, all around. In both districts, there are more candidates than there are positions to fill. In the Township, there is a contested school budget which 150 residents protested in a heated and articulate manner at last month's public hearing.

On Monday night, the five Township candidates and the four Borough candidates there are only three seats vacant on audience of about 175 persons at Princeton High School to explain their views on Borough-Township cooperation, the proposed Borough Educational Center and future high-school planning. Hostesses were members of the League of Women Voters.

Generally speaking, there was agreement. Before the meeting, all five Township candidates had signed a public letter urging Township citizens to vote "yes" on the budget. (See "Mailbox," page 14).

Cooperate! Yes! The League had asked candidates "what forms of cooperation you would advocate between our two schools systems?" Borough candidates John A. Buckland, Edward A. Hofegans and Elmer C. Hornigrausen emphasized the importance of joint curriculum studies. Robert A.
Lively questioned whether the degree of cooperation had been strong enough, and said he wished that sending districts, such as Rocky Hill and West Windsor, would make known their complaints and their opinions.

Township candidates M. Lawrence Bayern, Jess Epstein and Mrs. Leslie L. Vivilan, Jr., also spoke of curriculum cooperation. Donald Riddle said that the "ideal" of cooperation would be consolidation of the two municipalities; the "next best," consolidation of the two school systems and third best, a merger of high schools.

Township candidates, asked what suggestions they had for future high school planning, all recognized the urgency of the high school question for Township residents.

THE MAN WHO: It's adding machine time in New Jersey school districts as voters prepare in pass on various school budgets. Norman Anderson, secretary and distributor of funds for the Township School Board, poses over his adding machine and awaits the results of next Wednesday's election.

"The relative cost of a Township high school is being studied," Mrs. Epstein said.
"But the Borough must join with us in exploring alternatives. We should consider regionalization, or other new kinds of union."

Township Alone? Mr. Riddle said, "The Township must be prepared to go it alone." and he gave population statistics to show that the present high school would have 1,700 pupils (it now has slightly over 1,500) by 1966 even without peripheral sending districts.
He said that Kenneth Michael, high school principal, had suggested that overlapping schedules in two years might be necessary.

"The Township must get the joint consolidation study and its own citizens' study going," he said. "We must not be forced into making our decision by default."

Borough candidates, asked to make suggestions for the development of the new Educational Center on Walnut Lane, spoke both specifically and generally. Mr. Buckland said, "I'm enthusiastic about this Center and would like to

Round-Up

ROUND-UP

Letters to the Editor are in considerable abundance in this week's issue (page 14), covering topics ranging from the proposed site for the new public library to varying viewpoints on the township school budget. . . . the Bach program given by the High School Choir and the Baroque Orchestra is reviewed on page 8, while plans for a Princeton-backed off-Broadway production are revealed on page 5.

A story and picture-map reported on plans for relocating the Pennsylvania Railroad Station (page 3) . . . the Question of the Week (page 17) reflects opinion on the possibility of legalized off-track betting. . . . a display of satellites in Princeton bank is reported in Business in Princeton (page 26), as is the Chamber of Commerce nominee for "Man of the Years."

One thief who made away with stolen goods this week has left no question as to where the property he took belongs. . . . two 24 1/2-inch bronze signs reading "Morven" were removed from in front of the Governor's residence on Stockton Street.

Other thefts: $33.50 from the cash box at the Hancock and Halsey service station, 248 Nassau Street, and $60 worth of shortening and other baking goods from the Balt. Restaurant after it closed.

Police Chief Peter McCrohan's annual report for 1962 reports 15,558 tickets issued for parking violations and another 823 for moving violations. . . . there were 200 cases of petty larceny, with 16 arrests; 12 cases of grand larceny and two arrests; 35 cases of breaking and entering and four arrests.

Some $83,000 in stolen property (most of it automobiles) was reported, with $38,000 recovered. . . . automobile accidents occurred almost daily, with 320 reported, involving 76 injuries. . . . there were 69 fires, of which 47 were extinguished by the police without need for the Fire Department, and 30 dog bites. . . . "Crime," reports the Chief, "is on about the same level in Princeton as in other years, showing neither an increase or a decrease in the past 12 months."

On the high school roll at Princeton High School for the last marking period: Linda Blattnerberger and Carole Parnet, seniors; Jeff Stokes and Barbara Shore, juniors; James Brenne and Karen Holman, sophomores; Benay Abrams, Susan Heinemann, Linda James, Neil Kurchan and Cheryl Warfield, freshmen.

High temperature last week, as the unusually cold winter persisted, was Saturday's foggy 40. . . . there were five straight days when the thermometer never made it above freezing, and the lows on those five days ranged from 8 to 1.

realize more fully our potential for excellence."

Budget Defended. At the League's meeting on Monday night, a Township resident rose to ask why the Board had cut its budget back when "only 150" came to protest.

"You have to recognize criticism," Mr. Grace explained, "and to back honestly and look again at your budget."

"Our original budget was conservative," Mrs. Epstein said, "but we felt that if there was anything we could do, we should do it to convince the public that the Board realized the public's right to protest. And our changes are deferrals only; we made no compromise with educational quality."

In defense of its budget, the Township Board has prepared answers to a few of the most frequent questions it has heard since the night of the public hearing.

"What about the future?" is one question, "and how can future school tax rate increases be kept under control?"

"Assuming stable costs and no inflation," says the Board, "it is impossible under present state aid formulas to hold the tax rate stable" if students

Where to Vote

Voters casting ballots in Wednesday's school elections will vote according to the election district in which they live. Polling places, open from 5 to 9 p.m., are as follows:

Princeton Borough: Districts 6, 7. Witherspoon School. All others, Nassau Street.

Princeton Township: Districts 1, 4, Community Park: 2, 7, 8. Johnson Park: 3, 9. Riverside: 5, 6, Littlebrook. West Windsor: District 1. Dutch Neck Town Hall; 2, Penns Neck School.

Lawrence Township: Districts 1, 4, 7, 13. Lawrenceville Public School: 3, 9, 10. Slackwood School: 3, 6, Eldridge Park: 8, 11, 12. Lawrence Junior High.

Montgomery Township: District 1. Harlingen School: 2. Slawenburg Church House.

Increase faster than ratables do.

The Board made projections showing a slower rate of increase in school population, with the tax rate leveling off as smaller lots were used up and more expensive houses on the larger lots began to predominate.

But few factors have risen. Building permits have fallen below the projected number and birth rates have not risen. But there have been more new students than anyone anticipated. The Board thinks people without children are selling their houses to people with children who are attracted by the school system and by the Township itself as a desirable community in which to bring up a family.

To Study the Future. Faced with the problem, the Board appointed last fall its Citizens Committee on Long Range Planning and charged it with making 10-year population, financial and tax forecasts. In addition, the committee has been asked to consider overall educational goals, with special attention to high school education. Final recommendations are due in the spring of 1964.

The Board continues: "Princeton Township is in an excellent position compared with other districts in Mercer County and in the state. In 1962, the Township's equalized assessed valuation per pupil was $49,854 compared with an average of $33,509 for the 60 districts in the state's School Development Council. This figure is generally considered the best index of a community's ability to pay for its schools."

"Similarly, the Township's equalized school tax rate (based on full value assessment) was 1.38 in 1962, lower than all but two districts in Mercer County and lower than many comparable communities such as Ridgewood, East Orange, Montclair." The projected budget implies a 1963 equalized tax rate of about 1.55, "lower than the 1962 rate for all the other communities mentioned above."

Replying to critics who are concerned about possible consolidation, the Board says that all Township schools have been located geographically with consolidation in mind, and with the full prior knowledge of the Borough board.

The Board also says that experimental programs do not involve increased costs because they do not require additional teachers. The Board then remarked upon the fact that new teaching techniques could eventually reduce costs by using the staff more efficiently.

The question "Will the budget pass?" will be determined next Wednesday night. At its meeting Monday, the League urged all residents, Borough and Township, to get out and vote. (There is little doubt about passage of the Borough's budget.)

Last year, only 236 Township voters went to the polls for the school election. They passed the current expense budget by 198 "yes" to 38 "no."

STATION MOVE BACKED

By Borough Planners. The Borough Planning Board has approved "in principle" the relocation of the Pennsylvania Railroad station to a site on Faculty Road. Details of the plan, which include extending University Place to Faculty Road, are being held for further consideration.

The plan has been suggested by Princeton University to meet parking requirements for its new administration building and to lighten parking congestion on University Place near McCarter Theatre.

Alan W. Carrick moved the approval at Tuesday night's meeting, adding, "If the Township should approve in principle, the University is free to go ahead and negotiate with the railroad." His motion, seconded by Dr. Charles R. Erdman Jr., former Borough mayor, was passed unanimously. Arthur P. Morgan was absent. A sub-committee will be appointed to meet with the Township planning board also endorses the proposal. The Township board will meet on February 18.

Another Washington Road. Edward G. Hofgans, a board member and candidate for school board, stated that the main concern of most people is what is going to happen to University Place — it is going to be another Washington Road.

The proposed extension of University Place would be contained in the railroad's present right-of-way. The University offers to contribute funds equal to the cost of a planned, private loop road running between the administration building and Faculty Road. The board noted that only 200 feet of University Place lie within the Borough.

The Borough's consultant planner, F. Dodd McHugh, sent a letter of general approval, noting that it would be necessary to widen Alexander Street to handle increased traffic. Edgar M. Gemmell, University vice president, stated that the University plans to extend Faculty Road to Harrison Street.

Mr. McHugh proposed the

A LOOK AT THE FUTURE: The Pennsylvania Railroad station will be located on Faculty Road (top, right) if the current proposal of Princeton University is accepted. University Place, which dead-ends at the present station (lower center) will extend along the railroad's right-of-way to Faculty Road, providing direct access to the new station. The road along Baker Rink is part of the private loop the University will install if the University Place extension is rejected. A parking space for 250 cars is planned for the new station. The square in the lower center is the site of the seven-story office building, for which the University would find parking facilities directly behind the present station.

establishment of a commercial and service area between the suggested University Place extension and Alexander Street. The area would include the present commercial buildings on Alexander as well as provide Post Office and other space. In this instance, the extension of University Place would run close to Baker Rink in its stretch towards Faculty Road.

"Well, there goes our parking," said Mr. Gemmell.

PARKING DEBATED

"Black Top" Attacked. The Borough Planning Board refused to review the scattered parking provisions made by Leonard La Placa for his planned apartment building at Spring and Tulane Streets.

His attorney was requested to supply maps showing the locations at the March meeting. Spaces have been found behind a diner on Nassau Street, on Spring Street in a private yard on Vandewater and behind Farr's Hardware Store.

His dilemma touched off a discussion of parking and meters. "We seemed trapped by our ordinances when we compel a new owner to provide black top for his employees," former mayor Minot Morgan told the board. He added "We should arrange for parking on the periphery and run a jitney or bus service to town. We should eliminate the through guy and the all-day guy."

"I think that a $200,000 bond issue for 50 parking spaces on the Lahiere-Kane lot is wrong.

I intend to oppose it. That's $4,000 a car! I think it is a great shame that the parking meter has become to be considered tax money in a community of this size. It's part of your economy. . . . The parking meter was put in to help merchants. . . . I suggest that you build the library, knocking out 50 parking spaces and don't replace them."

Alan Francis, representing the Chamber of Commerce, requested that the Chamber be allowed to report on its parking survey at the March meeting. This was granted.

TOWNSHIP TAX STORY

Budget Is Up 2.69%. Township Committee spread out before the taxpayers Monday night a budget of $1,114,795.62, it represents an increase of $29,269 over last year's, a rise of 2.69 percent. Public hearing will be held March 18, 8 p.m., in Township Hall.

The total tax rate will probably be $2.83 per $100 of assessed value, an increase of 11 points over the $2.77 of 1962.

What this means for the individual householder is a tax bill of $78 for a $20,000 house, $897 for a $30,000 home.

Of the $2.89, $1.73 is the estimated school tax and 62 cents the county tax.

The amount to be raised by taxation is $532,852, which is $10,470 less than last year. Revenues will be up by an expected $39,741, which breaks down into an increase of $34,541 from miscellaneous revenues and $5,200 more from delinquent taxes.

Committee said on Monday night that it was able to hold the line at an 11-point increase because of a rateable jump of $6.68-100. To put it another way, township rates are now $104.804-518.

Among higher outlays, the budget shows a rise of $21,893 in salaries paid to Township employees, including provisions for two new police officers.

A second item of increase is $6,000 more to the Borough for incinerator, sewer, fire and civil defense services. Incinerator and sewer costs are figured on the basis of use, and the Township estimates to grow and grow while the Borough remains the same size.

Altogether, the Township budget includes an appropriation for full-time maintenance of sewer lines, an item which has never been included in previous budgets.

Other increases: Library (up $12,422), dog control (up $4,143) from nothing at all. This is the first year for a dog officer in the Township, police (up $6,371).

COUNTY PICTURE BETTER

For Taxpayers. There will be no increase in the county tax rate this year for either Borough or Township.

The Borough's rate and total will both go down. Other municipalities, growing at a much faster rate, pay more and more of the cost of running

In the Township, the rate will go down, too, but the total will rise by $20,237. This rise is offset by a Township increase of $6.8 in rateables during 1962, meaning a net reduction of about two tax points.

About three tax points will drop away in the Borough. Rateables went up by $260,000 and the county will send the Borough a bill for $1,026 less than the year before.

CAR WASH TABLED

By Township Committee. The car wash problem, which has been simmering in the Township for some time, was moved to the back of the stove Monday night by Township Committee.

Tubing the application of Saverio Mangione to operate a car wash on Route 206, Committee announced that it would hold a public hearing on the matter some time in the future. The date will be announced.

The zoning board had already approved Mr. Mangione's application, saying that a car wash was a suitable installation for a service district. Last year, Committee denied Mangione's application because of water and sewerage problems in the area.

Committee also extended Carter - Princeton Electronics use variation until July, 1963. The Alexander Street firm assembles electronic products and needs special zoning permission to do so, because Township zoning laws do not provide for industrial operations.

CONTESTS LOOM

In School Elections. In the municipalities around Princeton, voters will choose on Wednesday the school board members who will serve them for the next three years.

West Windsor. Six candidates will seek three seats. Raymond Conover, incumbent, is running again. His running mates are Richard Anderson, Stefan Gury, Mrs. Wayne Larnick, Richard Watkins and Charles Raleigh.

Lawrence Township. Leonard Darboe, Carl Kreger, Dr. Ralph E. Simon and James H. Smith, Jr., (incumbent) are running for full three-year terms. Benjamin P. McMahon, now on the board as an appointee, is running for a two-year unexpired term, and George H. Conover, Jr., for a one-year unexpired term.

Montgomery Township. G. Wilbur Drake, incumbent, Theodore J. Lahas, Earl Jabay, John E. Dickson, Jr. and Elmer C. Baab are running for the three three-year terms in Montgomery.

Hopewell Township. Edward Denaei, Robert Kinney, Philip Mampi (incumbent) and Lester E. Abbott are running for the two three-year terms available in Hopewell Township.

The added daylight is noticeable in the afternoon as February grows older, but the dawn is still later than most early-risers would prefer.

Winter is still with us, despite the temperatures climb this week and the melting snow running from the sun's warmer than usual rays. All that is due to end shortly: a generally colder trend on the way, ready to make its presence felt before the weekend arrives.

Richard Furch are the candidates for the three positions open on the board.

Pennington Borough. Howard F. Thurman and William H. Fisher are the candidates. There is one three-year post to fill and one two-year.

For Income Tax Evasion. Edward Duddy of the Brunswick Pike, Penns Neck, was fined $5,000 Monday on a charge of willfully attempting to evade corporate income taxes for the Premium Petroleum Co., a Trenton firm of which he is president.

DUNCAN TO GIVE STEIN
Off Broadway. "Yes is for a Very Young Man," the only play Gertrude Stein ever wrote, will be produced off Broadway by Stuart Duncan, Princeton's second impresario who has been the moving force behind such off-Broadway successes as Shaw's "Misalliance" and "Under the Sycamore Tree."

Duncan's production will open in the Players Theatre on McDougall Street in Greenwich Village on Monday, March 4. The eight-member cast went into rehearsal on Tuesday of this week.

"Actually, we're not technically 'off Broadway,'" Mr. Duncan says, "because we feature Theatre seats 250 and 190 is the union of off-Broadway seating limit. Geographically, though, we're 'off.'"

Philip Minor will direct the Stein play, which is concerned with the resistance movement in France during World War II.

"It's not gruesome, in spite of its locale and subject," Mr. Duncan says. "Actually, it will seem very square in comparison with the kind of theatre being written today. It's very tender, very poignant."

Mr. Minor will be remembered by Princeton audiences as an actor in "The Alchemist" and "Knight of the Burning Pestle" during recent seasons at McCarter, and as the director for McCarter's "Duchess of Malfi" and, of course, the Duncan "Misalliance."

For their cast, Mr. Minor and Mr. Duncan have chosen four principals, Elizabeth Wilson has just finished work in Alfred Hitchcock's "Birds" and in "A Child is Waiting," with Judy Garland. On stage, she has appeared in "Picnic," "Funnel of Love" and "The Desk Set" among others. Alan Helms will portray the "Very Young Man." He was seen last season in the Noel Coward "Sail Away." The other two leads will be Carole Macho, who was in "Misalliance," and Jerry Guardino.

"Turn of the Screw." When Benjamin Britten's opera, "The Turn of the Screw," appears on the McCarter Theatre stage this Thursday night, there will be a cast change.

OPERA HERE
"Turn of the Screw." When Benjamin Britten's opera, "The Turn of the Screw," appears on the McCarter Theatre stage this Thursday night, there will be a cast change.

The child Flora, one of the two haunted and bewitched children, will be played by Rita Loving, instructed by Michele Farr. Although Miss Loving is 24 years old, she will be taking the part of a 14-year-old girl, but an assignment like this is not new to the singer. One of her most recent roles was that of the young Annal in "Amahl and the Night Visitors," as presented by the New York Opera Theatre.

Patricia Neway will head the cast in the Britten work, assisted by Richard Cassilly who will sing the part of the sinister valet, Quint, and Bruce Zaharades who will play the boy, Niles.

"FANTASTICKS" NEXT

Cast Returns. A delightful hit in Princeton last fall, the off-Broadway musical, "The Fantasticks" will return to Princeton with the same cast next Friday and Saturday, February 15 and 16. The musical will play to matinee audiences at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, and to evening audiences at 8:30 Friday and Saturday.

Once again, Jon Cypher will play El Gallo, the Bandit; Betty McNamara will play The Girl and Gino Conforti The Boy. Gwyllion Evans will be seen again as the Boy's Father and Charles Goff as the Girl's Father. Grant Sheehan will play The Man who Dies and Alan Mixon The Mute. The only change in cast concerns the Old Actor who will be played in this production by Charles Herick.

Tickets for "The Fantasticks" are available at the McCarter box-office.

They're Here. The largest repertory company ever to play McCarter—33 actors in all—will engage in rehearsal for the Winter-Spring "Ladders of Ambition" series which will open on Wednesday, February 27, at 7:30 p.m. with Molire's "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme."

Several familiar faces will appear before Princeton theatre-goers. Christine Pickles, who played Portia in "Merchant of Venice" and the title role in "The Duchess of Malfi," will play another Portia in "Julius Caesar."

Gino Conforti, last fall's school matinee idol as the droll Dromio in "The Comedy

Watch That Parking

McCarter patrons, accustomed to the S.R.O. sign, will be confronted with a new sign with an even more disturbing sign, the one that says "No Parking."

The drive-in circle in front of McCarter, and the theatre side of College Road between Alexander and University Place will be off-limits to cars and buses as of February 15. It's a City Department regulation.

Parking spaces which have been illegal in the center of University Place or in the 15-minute waiting zone in front of the station, although McCarter patrons sometimes walk through these spaces. Two off-street parking areas are available near McCarter: the University Store parking lot on the corner of University Place and Edwards Place, and the Baker Bank area entrance from College Road.

Cars and buses may still drive up to the entrance at McCarter to discharge or pick up passengers.

of Errors," will play Casca in "Julius Caesar" as well as the Boy in "The Fantasticks."

Laurence Luckinbill, who appeared as Antholphus of Syracuse in "The Comedy of Errors" and as Calgula in the Campus play, also will return.

Stephen Porter, who directed McCarter productions of "A Phoenix Too Frequent," "Calgula," "The Alchemist" and "King Lear" will return to stage up to the entrance at McCarter to discharge or pick up passengers.

Sodom and Gomorrah (now playing) is a spectacular chronicle of the Biblical cities of vice, Sodom and Gomorrah, which several thousand years ago were cast into ruin and complete destruction at the hand of a wrathful God. Stewart Granger makes plausible and certainly handsome Lot, the Hebrew leader who led his people to the Jordan. Anouk Aimee is the beautiful and vicious Queen Bera, who revels in sin and corruption and the spilling of helpless blood. Pier Angeli is the ruler's former slave who becomes Lot's wife; and Stanley Baker is the queen's brother, who conspires with the Helmites tribe to overthrow his sister.

The ruler permits Lot and his people to sojourn on the barren lands they occupy near the cities, as a buffer between the cities and the Helmites. The Hebrew camp becomes a sanctuary for refugees from Sodom and Gomorrah. There is a spectacular battle scene when the Helmites attack the Hebrew camp, an interlude when the Hebrews move into Sodom, adopting the ways of the city, and an ensuing, thunderous destruction of the wicked cities. Comment: two-and-one-half-hour spectacle.

GARDEN

A Kind of Loving (thru Tues.) was voted the best film of 1962 at the Berlin Film Festival. A compelling comment on England's modern day youth, the story itself is simple.

Alan Bates and June Ritchie, employees of a Lancashire factory, are attracted to each other. Their carefree courtship ends abruptly when Bates seduces his fiancée and the couple is forced into marriage. The newlyweds move in with the girl's shrewish mother, played by Thora Hird.

Bates, used to having things his own way, is promptly and completely disenchanted. He goes home to mother who is unsympathetic, and he is forced into maturity. The film is told in such terms that it is completely engrossing. Bates gives an expert delineation of the happy-go-lucky youth who becomes a married man before he is ready for it. Miss Ritchie, a newcomer, gives him excellent support. Comment: British realism.

West Side Story, (now playing) is big, rich, lush and pulsing with youth and vitality. It has moments of genuine tenderness, drawing substantially on Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet."

The screen production, filmed in color, broadens and heightens the stage play in every way. Leonard Bernstein's music, the intricate Jerome Robbins dances and the imaginative photography blend into a smoothly flowing show.

Natalie Wood is the dark sensitive beauty whose full-flaming love for Richard Beymer as Tony sets off the tragic rumble between rival street gangs. Beymer is convincing as the matured youngster who is himself above gang rivalries, but who is drawn in spite of himself into a fatal stabbing. Russ Tamblyn is excellent as the leader of the Sharks, the West Side street gang whose hatred for Puerto Ricans explodes into death by knife and gun. George Chakiris is Bernardo, Miss Wood's brother and leader of the Puerto Rican gang, the Jets. The photography almost brings to life the sights, sounds and almost the smells of New York's West Side, particularly in the prologue in which the color camera pans down from the sky onto a Manhattan slum area, the arena for the gang rivalry and scene of the Romeo-Juliet romance. Comment: a magnificent fusion of the three arts.

IT'S NEW To Us

JEWELS FOR ALL
Just Add Zeros. As any woman knows, you can make real diamonds out of fake diamonds just by adding zeros to the price tag. Edward's Jewelers, in the Shopping Center, displays both kinds for all kinds of shoppers.

Take, for example, but pay for it first. Jewelers are so conventional a pin made of two, gently looping strands of Florentine gold clasped together with a diamond, for $92.50. Small diamonds and rubies bring sparkle to another gold pin, this one $295.

One of the nicest variations on the circle pin displays a hand-wrought, galloping horse, delightfully precise in detail for its one-inch size, leaping through the Florentine circle $53.

A three-strand pearl bracelet, only three-eighths inches wide, is the foundation for a row of tiny gold hearts on top of little garnets. Another piece is a pair of earrings consisting of a cluster of seed pearls. $72.50.

Meanwhile, all you have to do is turn around in order to examine a table of costume jewelry priced from $1 to $3. The Florentine circle is popular here, too, appearing in a Cleopatra necklace of willow leaves $23 and in flower pins like the chrysanthemum blossom, or the pearl-centered thistle.

Cheerful colored beads to dress up a black sweater, a massive silver chain choker (gold, if you wish) or a single pearl in a gold flower; how much fun can you have for $2?

Gentlemen are served at Edward's by the Bulova people and their Accutron watches, guaranteed to lose or gain no more than one minute a month. This microscopic time-piece doesn't even tick, as you probably know. It hums (because it doesn't know the words?). The Accutron is inside the Explorer VII satellite and can be on your wrist for as low as $130. From there it climbs into outer space toward spaces of $395.

In the jewelry case for men, Edward's has cuff links from $32 to $123, the latter a square of gold with a single diamond in the northwest corner.

Elsewhere in the jewelry shop, you will find hollow pewter by international, with bowls, pitchers large and small, syrup pots and mugs in satin-finish. Formalists will choose Kirk's Vermeil, in one of the ten patterns available in this gold-on-silver style. Everything from the ornate Repousse to a chaste gold curve is represented in this collection.

FOR ALL THE GIRLS
Spring Ahead. Little girls from size 7, suitcases who think they are grown up, and juniors who know they are, will welcome spring this year at Princess Shop on Palmer Square.

To greet the juniors is Glen of Michigan with that unbeatable mix-match skill, mixing and matching this year in a red calico print—grey and white stripe combination, and in marvelous three-piece wool suits in grey prints.

The red print appears in a straight skirt topped by a matching overblouse with stand-away mandarin collar, and again as one side of a reversible parka whose obverse is the grey and white stripe. There's a straight, striped skirt, too.

Later on, how about a red-splashed sundress with demure boat neck front and brash low-neck back? The red pops up again in a double-breasted (pearl buttons) coat with low-slung belt line.

All-weather coats feature something that looks like raw silk with no collar and big raw wood buttons. Another is grey with white top-stitching where you'd expect to find a collar.

Not for Kiddies

The suavest sofa we have seen in some time now graces the living-room at Nassau Interiors. We suggest its purchase only by families whose youngest member is, say, about 30.

The reason for our suggestion is that the sofa has been upholstered in a taut wool felt, stretched across back, arms and sides and along the butter-lufted, single-cushion seat. (It's one of those couches whose arms and back are the same height—Chesterfield style, it's sometimes called.) The frame, visible only in a bar across the lower edge and in the three front legs, is called walnut.

At present, the felt upholstery is a burnished gold color, but it can be almost any color you choose. There is an optional pair of back cushions, but Nassau Interiors shows the piece with eight loose felt pillows, each about 14 inches square, tossed at random along the back. They are rust color, green, turquoise, terra cotta—colors like that, and they are splendidly dramatic against the solid gold background.

Well, it's quite a piece ($487 usually, but only $382 during February), but not for a ranch house where there are small cowboys.

Those three-piece Glen suits have a simple overblouse that picks up a shade in the pastel wool of Chanel jacket and straight skirt. A junior would be deliciously happy in one of these.

All the girls will have fun this spring in Activity Skirts, combining culotte with skirt, activity with repose. You get a standard culotte with a front panel, sometimes narrow, sometimes hip-to-hip, that buttons on and off, as you choose. Lots of fabrics and colors in time.

For dress, Glen of Michigan produces "fun flannels" like the red one piled in navy with short sleeves, round neck and cord sash.

Seersucker suits will be popular for everybody, starting with the smart size seven, who will be even easier in a red check suit with box-pleat.

CLEVELANDERS BACK
Old Friends Return. The Cleveland Orchestra and its conductor, George Szell, long-time favorites of Series I concert-goers, will return Tuesday to McCarrie Theatre for an 8:30 performance featuring Mozart, Tchaikovsky and Boris Blacher.

The concert will be the fourth in Series I of the Princeton University Concerts. All seats have been sold, but standing room tickets will go on sale at the McCarrie Theatre box-office at 7:30 p.m. the night of the concert.

For its Princeton program, the orchestra will play Mozart's Divertimento in D major, K. 131, followed by a composition written especially for the orchestra, "Music for Cleveland," by Boris Blacher. The entire second half of the program will be devoted to Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 4 in F minor, Opus 36. Founded in 1918, the Cleveland Orchestra is now in its 17th season under Mr. Szell's guidance. Last fall, the group was the only non-Eastern orchestral group invited to play during the inaugural festivities of the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts in New York.

MODEL BACH CONCERT
At Procter Hall. On Friday evening, the Friends of Music at Princeton presented a concert of music by Johann Sebastian Bach in Procter Hall, the Graduate College. The performers included the Princeton High School Choir under the direction of Thomas Hilbisch and the Princeton Baroque Orchestra, conducted by John Harrison. The soloists were Thelma Young, soprano; Barbara Hilbisch, contralto; Clarence Moore, tenor, and Woodward Waesche, bass. In every respect, the concert was a model of the way such things should be done, beginning with the choice of music. The C Major Suite for orchestra hardly requires praise at this date, but since "Alles nur nach Gottes Willen" (Cantata No. 72) and "In den wir meinen Taten" (Cantata No. 97) are not among the generally celebrated cantatas, it is probable that we are missing that they proved to be of the highest quality. In particular, No. 97 contains a series of arias which rank among Bach's greatest, as the Bach Aria Society has already shown us; they are greatly enhanced by their context in the complete work, framed by two grand settings of the "Inchbruck chorale."

The selection of good music is, of course, only half the battle; as we have had occasion to note, even masterpieces can fail if presented without the necessary skill and taste. However, skill and taste were abundantly present on Friday evening; the performance, Mr. Harrison's direction was sure and discriminating—and even the most difficult part, by turning out in overwhelming numbers, thereby damping the celebrated resonances of Procter Hall down to an easily tolerable level.

In connection with matters of musical accuracy, there was nothing to fault, probably because of the simple fact that the most "authentic" performance practice usually leads to the most musical results, and vice versa. Furthermore, since the musical results are so much easier to obtain in the "authentic" setting, it is difficult to see why so many conductors want to do otherwise. Accuracy leads to pedantry only when applied unmusically, and unmusical performances are undesirable whether accurate or not.

Detailed enumeration of the many felicities of Friday's performances would quickly exhaust the space available, but a few things deserve special mention. Thomas Hilbisch's remarkable High School Choir have, of course, never needed any apologies for their youth; their singing would adorn any Bach performance—and it is to be hoped that they will adorn many more. Their high level of precision and musicality is so consistently maintained that we will probably soon cease to think of them as remarkable; they will simply be known as the best chorus around.

Among the orchestra, special mention should be made of those who played obligato parts: the oboists Charles Kuskin and George Donner, and the violinist Rose Mary Pedersen, who achieved a breath-taking purity and continuity of line in the tenor aria of Cantata No. 97. The continuo cello of Lewis Lockwood was a tower of strength throughout the evening, along with the admirable playing of George Todd and Philip Batstone at the harpsichord.

The work of the vocal soloists was distinguished throughout by fine clarity of phrasing and diction, superior intonation, and excellent vocal quality. But the greatest distinction of the performances was the balance and interplay of the various elements, all in exposition of Bach's music and the primary credit for this surely must go to John Harrison, whose always just pacing, sensitive shaping, and if you like Town Topics, the best way to express your appreciation is to mention it to our advisers.

To Sing "Theocritus"
Roger Sessions' "The Idyll of Theocritus" will be sung next Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in the Playhouse of Westminister Choir College by members of the Music Study Group of Princeton. The presentation is open to the public.

Janice Harsanyi, soprano, and Stephen Pruslin, a d Robert Bailey, duo-pianists, will perform the work as arranged by Mr. Sessions for two pianos. The composer will be present to speak on his work before his presentation.

"The Idyll of Theocritus" is being offered as part of the study group's policy of presenting new and unusual works on its programs.

especially his sure control of the contrapuntal expansions mark him as one of those rare conductors who truly understand baroque textures. Aside from a brief problem of clean beginnings in the various movements of the Suite, he showed that he knows how to give the music its proper movement, and how to maintain it without either leaving slack or driving the pace—and it seems likely that those brief problems were the result of a praiseworthy concern lest there be loss of spontaneity of motion in the individual lines. It is certainly to be hoped that this is only a beginning for the Princeton Baroque Orchestra, that they will join with the High School Choir in many more Bach cantatas, and perhaps explore such riches as lay hidden among the Haydn symphonies. They have set a remarkably high standard, and they leave no doubt of their ability to maintain it.

and is a farcical crime caper with Alec Guinness and Stanley Holloway.
"Sons and Lovers" (Sunday only) is an adaptation of D. H. Lawrence's famous novel. It treats the nuances of Lawrence's thought with great sensitivity and delicacy.
"Sons and Lovers" is set in a drab coal-mining section of England and deals primarily with the relations between Mrs. Morel, a woman of superior breeding, married to a brutal, drunken coal miner, and her son, Paul, a sensitive young man with artistic aspirations. There is no indication that Lawrence had actually read Freud by 1913, the year the novel was published, but he seemed to sense the Freudian theory that the relations between parents and children had a sexual basis which profoundly influenced the human psyche.

Paul adores, and is adored by his mother. He is therefore unable to enter into a satisfactory relationship with either Miriam who worships him, or with Clara, with whom he shares a passionate physical intimacy. On the death of his mother, Paul is doomed to years of painful readjustment. There are splendid performances by Trevor Howard, Wendy Hiller, Mary Ure and Dean Stockwell. Comment: film classic.

Judge Arthur S. Lane, who heard the case in Federal District Court, suspended a two-year prison sentence for which Budny was liable under the charge. The defendant, placed on probation for two years, was directed to pay the fine within 30 days.

Budny pleaded guilty last October to the first of three counts in an indictment charging that his gasoline firm refused to issue income tax returns for 1955, '56 and '57, when it actually owed a total of $142,472 in those years. The government said that the corporation's taxable income during the period in question amounted to $250,686.

Budny, 34, is the father of Carl W. Budny, who was killed on October 28 in a holdup staged in Trenton. The younger Budny was in the act of depositing night receipts of the company's service stations when he was shot by armed robbers, who have since been apprehended.

FUND DRIVE BEGINS

Aid Squad Seeks $25,000. A special fund drive to raise $25,000 will be launched this Thursday by the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad. The campaign will run through February 17.

The funds are needed to complete the organization's new ancillary brick building now being built on a three-quarter acre site at the corner of Harrison Street and Clearview Avenue. Presently, the 30-man volunteer squad, on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week, is operating out of the fire house on Chestnut Street. DeWitt Boice, Jr., is president of the organization.

The end result of an ever-increasing demand for more space to handle round-the-clock services, the new 3,000 square foot headquarters will offer many advantages to the community. Now for the first time, Mr. Boice reported, at least three volunteers will be on duty at the station every night.

In addition, a branch is being established in West Windsor Township to serve the needs of that growing community. "But it all takes money and since our services are offered free, we have to depend on liberal donations from citizens of the community," Mr. Boice pointed out. The majority of Princeton Borough, Princetown Township and West Windsor Township have all endorsed the agency and its fund drive.

When it was founded in 1940, the unit had one ambulance. Today it has a rescue truck, two boats, trailer and

The squad is also a member of the New Jersey State First Aid Council. In the event of disaster, the Princeton unit, working through the state council dispatch center, would have at its services the 12 neighboring squads in its district. There are 516 squads in the state.

Person To Person

We got to talking about the many mysteries in nature, some of the things that we have always taken for granted, but which Oliver Wendell Holmes once wrote: "A goose flying by a chart which the Royal Geographic Society could not improve." Take the studies of why geese fly in a V formation, and then the expression "bird brain" loses its scorn.

Moderate wind is helpful to bird flight, so by flying in V formation each bird avoids the air-wake of the bird in front and benefits from straight wind. A similar fact is that the distance between the birds are uniform and always maintained. Apparently our feathered friends are experts in many things, but we are experts only in one thing: how best to provide you with a good car, and keep it safe and economical for you. HEART DRIVE STARTED With "Morven" Tea.

A house-to-house drive for funds to aid research in heart and circulatory ailments will begin on Heart Sunday, February 24. Volunteers will make the personal calls that will be the only solicitation during the heart campaign. Contributions will support the Mercer County heart program, as well as aid research projects.

Mrs. Richard Hughes opened the campaign this week with a tea at "Morven" for volunteers and captains. In addition to captains shown in the picture on this page, Borough and Township volunteers will be led by Mrs. David W. Sidford, Mrs. Robert W. Ayers, Mrs. Harvey Rothberg, Mrs. Charles M. Jones, Mrs. Robert McCarthy and Mrs. Robert W. Johnson, Jr. Mrs. Clifton C. Bennett is chairman of the Princeton Heart Fund campaign, Archie C. Lummis treasurer and Mrs. Santo Vicino, publicity chairman. Dr. Benjamin K. Silverman is president of the Mercer County Heart Association.

BY-PASS SUPPORTED By Democratic Club.

The Princeton Democratic Club has announced its approval of the proposed by-pass highway around Princeton. In a letter to Governor Hughes, the organization cited its reasons for support of the bill that proposes construction of the by-pass. The club noted that an increase in traffic passing through the community poses "imminent dangers for many pedestrians in kindergarten to graduate school." The letter, signed by Robert W. van de Velde, president of the club, stated that the group recognizes that the growth in population and an increase in the number of automobiles creates inevitable change. "Internal changes we feel confident to deal with ourselves," the letter continued. But it claimed an urgent need for help on the question of external traffic.

MEETING WEDNESDAY Of Annual Rescue League.

The Princeton Small Animal Rescue League will hold its annual meeting Wednesday evening at 8 in the lounge room of the YMCA Building on Avalon Place.

Trustees for the coming year will be elected and reports will be presented on the League's activities during the past year. Those interested are invited to attend.

IT'S "GO" TIME

Finals Saturday, Go, the Japanese game that makes chess look like Monopoly, will be played Saturday afternoon and evening in Fine Hall on the University campus by contestants who are, to say the least, experts.

They will be participating in the final rounds of the New Jersey State Go Tournament, where early heats were run off at the Bell Telephone Laboratories in Murray Hill.

Of the 20 finalists, four are from Princeton. They are Ralph Fox — who might almost be called the father of Go in Princeton — Kunio Murasugi, both from the University; Fred Kling of Educational Testing Service; and James Gorman from Western Electric.

Library Site Backed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Writing on behalf of the Council of the Friends of the Public Library of Princeton, the undersigned residents of the Borough and Township enthusiastically endorse the unanimous recommendation of the Princeton Public Library Board of Trustees that the corner of Witherspoon and Jennings Streets, near a portion of a Borough-owned parking yard, be officially designated the site for the urgently needed new Public Library building.

The undersigned fully subscribe to the considered opinion of the Library Board that the Witherspoon-Wiggins site is by far the most desirable of the 23 sites it has studied—in respect to its central location, accessibility both by automobile and on foot, necessary space, relative cost and the opportunity to create a useful, attractive, dignified building designed to serve the community as a whole.

It is our strong conviction that a building on this site is in the best interests of the Joint Free Public Library and of the Borough and Township of Princeton.

"Whom Twom?" Is This Addressed?

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I mourn daily the deterioration inflicted on the English language by advertising copy writers, sportscasters, some reporters, and even authors of books; but when TOWN TOPICS' editorial department joins in the massacre, I must protest. I wrote for your January 13 issue "Question of the Week," page 10B. Regardless of the outcome of this year, whom do you think would win a Kennedy-Ruckelshaus race?

That a falsely elegant whom has seduced your editorial writer as it seduced me, and after well-meaning but unthinking wordsmen, in the question asked above, the word should be who; it is not the object of the verb do think, but the subject of would win.

It would be correct to say "Whom do you consider the best candidate?" or "Whom do you think to be the likely winner?"—but where there is verb involved, that verb must have a subject; therefore "Who do you think would win?"

Last year of your readers, unconvinced by a single letter-writer's cryptic in the wilderness wonder, "whom is this guy telling us how to write English?" refer to Princeton's Modern English Usage, the article on "Who & Whom," which it is stated, "The wrong use of whom is now so prevalent in the newspapers and there is real danger of its becoming one of those sturdy indefensibles of which the few clever have the better."

HERBERT MCANENY
67 Dover Avenue

Editor's Note: On behalf of TOWN TOPICS—and others who may fall into the same trap—thanks to Herbert McAneny, long-time Country Day School faculty member, for a brief but delightful return to the classroom.

The Budget Isn't "Fat."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

For the first time in some years the School Board's Budget and have become topics of interest and even heated argument in Princeton Township. The current school budget has been questioned by individuals and a good group there may be "fat" in the budget, and who are sufficient to publicize to spread an evening at the budget hearing. The present budget is consistent with previous budgets in educational services provided and per pupil cost. The present educational policy and over-all high standards have evolved through the dedicated efforts of the school boards, administrators and teachers.

Up to now, the Township has endorsed these policies in a negative way. We have approved budgets and policies by tacit agreement and an apathetic attitude towards active attendance and participation in School Board deliberations. Few people have bothered to vote in the School Board elections, even over have actually attended the School Board meetings, which are regularly open to the public.

The way to keep and improve an excellent school system is to maintain an active interest, not to spring to attention after long somnolence and defeat the budget. The histories of other townships in which budgets have been defeated, show that such defeats usually result in long term damage both to the schools and township as a whole.

We urge the voters of Princeton Township to assume their responsibilities and go to the polls on Wednesday, February 12. It is of the utmost importance that this election be decided for one by a representative majority of thoughtful voters and parents.

Riverside School PTA
Executive Board

High Quality at Low Cost.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Princeton Township school budget debate prompts me to depart from my customary practice of not writing letters to the editor.

It is easy enough to compare this budget with expenditures in the average New Jersey School District and conclude that it can be reduced substantially. But the same thing can be said for almost all public and private expenditures in Princeton.

Ours is not an average community and we are proud of the high standards which account for these higher than average costs. The budget cutting question is essentially a question of retreating from these high standards. I do not want to retreat because I want Princeton to continue to be a charming community of good schools and other good things which cost money.

It has been pointed out that Princeton Township has $49,854 of property values for each of its public school pupils. Compare this high valuation with the statewide average of $30,112 and it becomes apparent why the Township can provide a high quality school program at a lower than average school tax rate upon the full value of taxable property $1.30 as compared with $1.50. Instead of complaining about the high cost of schools, we should be thankful that we have the resources to make it all possible within a modest tax rate.

Princeton is a residential community. Residential real estate values are more than 4 1/2% of its property tax base. Records in the State Division of Taxation show that this residential property includes 2741 properties with market values averaging $32,468 as compared with the statewide average of $15,760. Even with residential values more than double the state average, however, Princeton Township houses a city school tax rate averaging $447 each. This is less than the cost of educating one child in the Princeton schools.

Between 1961 and 1962, there were 182 residences added to the Township tax rolls. Compare this rate of increase in residence with the 27 new pupils expected next year, and it seems plain enough that residential growth will not provide enough property tax money to pay all the additional costs for new pupils.

This is a problem of growth which even the more prosperous residential communities must face. If communities such as Princeton Township want to remain residential, they must anticipate that continued growth will cost them some additional school taxes. Since its being almost entirely residential is part of the charm of Princeton, some growth in school taxes must be regarded as part of the price we pay for maintaining that charm.

Although my children have gone since we moved to Princeton, and I dislike paying taxes as much as does anyone else, I look upon the growing school tax as the inevitable price I am willing to pay for something I want to preserve.

All of this has been without reference to individual items in the proposed school budget.
Probably a re-examination could change the budget somewhat and even reduce it by a few dollars. But the budget was prepared by a group of dedicated citizens and neighbors who have given much time and thought to their service on the School Board, and I am ready to support them.

JAMES A. ARNOLD, JR.
232 Edgerstone Road
Businessmen Defended.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
I am moved to defend the thoughtful citizens who took the trouble to look at proposed school budget figures and to speak out at an open meeting.

The fact that they have seen fit to question costs in a "business-like" way does not automatically make these school-men opposed to high standards in public education. I resent the implication in last week's leading Letter to the Editor on the school budget issue, that the only way to excellence in schools (and in a righteous civic conscience) is in open-banded spending.

What better or more constructive way is there to cope with the rising cost of education referred to in Mrs. Rose's letter, than a good hard scrutiny of budgeted-all budgets? I do not see how this scrutiny can help but keep us conscious of the quality of the product we are buying—i.e. public school education.

Mrs. Rose needs to be reminded that any citizen has the right to question public expenditure and that it is not our tradition to make him feel cheap for doing so.

I think our children need the example of the "businessmen" in our midst who are able to look at a sticky issue objectively and fearlessly.

Candidates Back Budget.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
We, the candidates for the Princeton Township School Board, urge all Township volunteers to go to the polls on February 13 and support the school budget.

We believe that the budget embodies a sound approach to the problems of our rapidly-growing school system, and reflects educational policies supported by most of the citizens in Princeton Township. We further believe that defeat of the budget would represent a serious blow to education in the township.

Accordingly, we urge every citizen to vote for the budget.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I enclose a copy of a letter

New Schedule for Library

The Princeton Public Library will put a new schedule into effect on Monday.

Both the adult and children departments will be open from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and from 9:30 to 6 on Tuesday, Thursdays and Saturdays. The library staff the change was made necessary to insure adequate professional assistance and supervision for the entire time the building is open.

The board of trustees said the revised schedule to be required because both municipalities have indicated that funds for an increase in the library's professional staff are unavailable at present.
Available funds will be used in connection with planning for a new library building.

Other members of the School Board for our failure to be present and support you at the recent budget hearing. We have completely felt that most residents of the township shared our feeling of pride in the school system and of appreciation toward you and your associates for the time-effort, and good judgment you are giving, and for all you have accomplished.

"Due to some medical problems, both of our children have had long and frequent absences this year. We feel that the good teachers and the reasonable class sizes that you have provided are responsible for the good progress they have made."

"We will join the majority of the thinking citizens of the township at the school election to approve your budget—i.e.
the original one—and thus believe your appreciation and support."

League Still Functioning.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
In an effort to correct misinformation about the care of lost and found animals, the Princeton Small Animal Rescue League would like to say that it has not suspended its activities.

As in the past, any lost animals found by the police, or by the dog warden are taken to the Lawrence Hospital for Animals, where they are cared for seven days, during which time many are claimed by their owners. Any individual finding a stray or injured animal should notify the police, the dog warden or Mrs. Graves.
Mrs. Graves, the executive secretary of the Princeton Small Animal Rescue League, continues to keep lists of lost called at Walnut 1-6122.

TRIPLE YOUR READING SPEED

WITH EXCELLENT COMPREHENSION AND RETENTION

YOU CAN READ 200-250 PAGES AN HOUR (1500 words per minute) using the ACCELERATED READING technique. Learn to read smoothly down the page instead of across each line word-by-word. This is NOT a skimming or scanning method; you definitely see and read every word.

The ACCELERATED READING technique can be effectively applied to textbooks and factual material, as well as to general reading. Students, executives, and professionals use the ACCELERATED READING technique to great advantage. No machines or gadgets whatsoever are used in learning this skill. Most graduates of the ACCELERATED READING course read 200 to 300 words per minute. Some read at 4000 words per minute. Be our guest at a 30-minute demonstration of ACCELERATED READING on Wednesday, February 13, at 7:30 P.M. at THE PRINCETON INN. Bring a book.

A special class in ACCELERATED READING will be taught in the Princeton area beginning on Wednesday, February 27. This class will meet each Wednesday evening from 7:15 to 9:45 for ten weeks.

IF YOU CAN'T LICK EM, TAX EM is what Governor Hughes seems to be saying in hinting that he might ask for legalized off-track betting. Charles Sawyer (left) and James Howley both approve of the Governor's suggestion.

Question of the Week

Question: To gain more state revenue, Governor Hughes is reported to be seriously considering legalizing off-track betting. Would you be in favor of or opposed to this?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

Charles Snyder, Lambertville, mail clerk, Princeton University: Sure—you wouldn't have to go to the track. I don't see anything wrong with it. I don't think it could cause those who didn't bet to begin betting, although those who do bet now would probably bet more.

James Howley, 29 Bank Street, mail clerk, Princeton University: I'm in favor of it. Definitely it is the easiest way to gain revenue without the responsibility of burdening those who can least afford to pay a sales or income tax. Also, it would eliminate all the jokes and other unpleasant characters if they did.

Mrs. Guy Schupp, North Trenton, housewife: I'm not violently for or against it. I feel people are going to gamble whether you legalize it or not. You can't get rid of that, no matter what you do. So if it would mean a source of revenue, I don't think it would be opposed to it.

Eric Craig, 60 Leigh Avenue, Borough Street Department employee: I'd be in favor of it. Why let all that money go to waste if people are going to do it anyway? I don't think it will encourage people who don't bet now to start. Very, very few, if any, would, in my opinion.

Irving Wrenn, Trenton, panyman for Princeton University Food Service: I think it is a good idea. People are going to bet anyway. If they legalize it, they can tax it.

Mrs. Ross Holloway, 40 College Road, housewife: I would be opposed. I think it's making money out of people's weakness, really. I've heard of it to try to stop illegal gambling there might be a point to it, but I think we should have a tax that is fair to everybody. I don't think we should encourage gambling in any form. I think we should have a state income tax.

John S. Saul, 225-A King Street, graduate student: I'm in favor of it. People are going to bet anyway and it seems to me the revenue might just as well be diverted into state coffers rather than into the hands of illicit bookmakers who are going to flourish as long as it remains illegal. People are going to bet regardless and it seems to me unrealistic to pretend they won't just because there is a law against it.

Mrs. Gloria Stewart, Trenton, research aid for Princeton University: I'm very much in favor of it. I think that legalizing betting of any sort is the most intelligent way for a state or for a nation to obtain revenue. This way one can't hear the complaint that those that are the most honest and those who can least afford it, since nobody is forced to make off-track bets.

Joshua Higgins, Trenton, purchasing department for Textile Research Institute, Prospect Avenue East: I'm opposed to this because under legalized off-track betting, there is nothing to prevent a fellow from spending $10 to $15 a day on it; it encourages people to bet more by making it easier. I would like to see Governor Hughes ask for four races a year in which betting would be legal, perhaps one a quarter, something like the Irish Sweepstakes and use the money for hospitals, roads, and so on. This would limit people in their betting and raise revenue at the same time.

William E. Walker, Robbinsville, part owner of Kuller Travel Agency, Nassau Street: I think I'd be in favor of that. I can see no reason why not. I'm not a gambler but those who do have a compulsion to it. It is the same as liquor. People who like to drink are going to drink no matter what you do. Those who like to gamble are going to gamble. Why make them go out to the track? We might as well get some revenue out of it, as long as they are going to bet anyway.

Harry Hart, New York City, lingerie salesman: I'd be in favor of it for this reason. It's been so successful in England. It is a regular industry there. They pay taxes on it, it is under strict government supervision, and it is a very legitimate operation. People who want to bet, bet; those who don't, don't. It is an entirely individual thing. It's proven to be very successful.

Miss Kathy Winkler, Trenton, secretary for Langrock's: I think I'd be for it. I'd rather have the state raise tax revenue this way than through a large sales tax.

Joseph Zebrowski, Trenton, shipping and receiving clerk for McLean Engineering Laboratories, Princeton Junction: I'd be in favor of that myself. For one thing, there are hundreds of thousands of dollars that are being bet illegally every week and we are losing a good substantial revenue by legalizing off-track betting. So why shouldn't we get some money out of it?

Clarence DiDonato, Jr., 27 Harris Road, owner of Bud's Sporting Shop: I would be in favor of it. I would gain sizeable revenue for the state and at the same time it would possibly mean the lowering of other taxes. From a moral point of view I see nothing wrong with it. People are going to bet whether it is legal or not. All this will do is make it easier for those who bet already. I don't feel it will encourage people who don't bet now to start.

GRAY LADIES GRADUATE
In Capping Ceremonies
Eleven women have been graduated from the Gray Lady course of the Princeton Red Cross, conducted for six weeks at the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute.

The women will begin volunteer service at the Institute, giving two to four hours weekly in work designed to make patients feel more comfortable in the surroundings. Mrs. V. Terrell Davis, chairman of the Institute's office of volunteers, presented the Gray Ladies with caps at graduation ceremonies. Mrs. Ed S. Firth, chairman of Red Cross Gray Ladies for the Institute, presented diplomas.

The course included a week of lectures by psychiatrists and psychologists at the Institute and five weeks of orientation in various departments of the Institute.

The Princeton chapter of the Red Cross hopes to begin another Gray Lady course at the Institute, which has a need for additional volunteer workers. Interested women should call the Princeton chapter of the Red Cross.

The bill will be introduced by Assemblyman Edward J. Sweeney, according to the club. The bypass, to be known as Route 31-A, would be designed to eliminate much heavy traffic that now passes through the center of Princeton.

Mrs. Charles Petzold, chairman, and Mrs. Albert F. Giese, Jr., co-chairman of the club's department of civics and legislation, have asked each member to send letters endorsing the bill to Assemblyman Sweeney and State Senator Sido L. Ridolfi.

NEW OFFICERS: A "Change of Watch" dinner dance was held Saturday at the Princeton Inn and new officers of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary were sworn in: Harry Cooke, 144 Sycamore Road, Training Officer; Frazer Wile, 1145 Avenue Lawrenceville, Vice-Commander; Charles Tressin, Lawrence Township, Commander; and William A. QUAKER-KILLER: Sophomore Chuck Berling, who regains athletic eligibility last week, hits for a 24-00 push shot despite bulk by Penn captain John Wideman. Berling's 17 points were a major factor in Tigers' 70-58 triumph.

SPORTS In Princeton

ONE UP, EIGHT TO GO
Tigers Must Win 'Em All, in a race as unpredictable as that staged annually in the Ivy Basketball League, the final standings early in March are extremely difficult to forecast early in February. From where Princeton sits, however, the Tigers can be sure of one thing: until they actually see Yale and Penn slide past them in the standings, they'll have to count on winning them all in order to have even a chance at a first-place tie.

• Off the remainder of the schedule, the favorite is defending champion Yale. Of course, if the Elis should turn back both Penn and Princeton this weekend at New Haven, the race will have come to its earliest end within memory. Their only tough road game thereafter will be Cornell at Ithaca, and the lead they would build with twin triumphs this week would be virtually unassailable.

• Off its balanced squad and fine 7-3 record against strong non-Ivy teams, Penn will become the favorite if it can handle the Elis Friday night. The Quakers have no star, but any one of their top seven players may hit for double figures. Against Princeton, when some of the starters were in trouble 1-4, Jeff Sturm got off the bench to score 18 points.

TIGERS GROW STRONGER

In Defeating Penn, 70 to 58. Except for a cold period midway through the first half, and a brief Penn rally right after the tie Intermission, Princeton controlled Saturday's "crucial contest" from start to finish. The Tigers led early, 12-6; yielded 11 straight points to trail, 17-12, and then came on strong to take a 23-23 lead to the dressing room.

The determined Quakers cut this margin to 34-32 early in the second half, but Princeton never lost its poise and broke the game open from there. Bradley, Berling, and Hyland were the principal agents, but sophomore Don Roth came off the bench to chip in eight points at times when they meant much.

The Tigers regained their nine-point advantage at 43-34 with 14 minutes left, and built it up from there. They held margins of 51-38, 61-47 (when Berling fouled out and 68-54 when Bradley drew his fifth personal with 1:41 to go. It was only the second time this season that Bradley has been required to leave the game. By the time he did, he had 22 points in the relatively low-scoring contest, was credited with 16 rebounds to lead the Tigers to an invincible 57-29 advantage in this department and set up numerous baskets for his teammates with his fine passing.

Berling (see "We Congratulate") lent all sorts of balance to the Princeton attack, including the ability to use Bradley in the back court. The Tigers' passing game benefited accordingly, and on several occasions, a player was shaken loose for a virtually unopposed layup that helped subdue the title-conscious Quakers. They have not won in Dillon Gym since 1956.

Berling's presence will also give the Tigers a stronger bench. Both of the starting seniors, Hyland and Harlow, were withdrawn from action during part of the game; in fact, when Berling fouled out, it was Hyland who came back to replace him as a mighty valuable "substitute."

It could be that the lineup is so solidified after being in a state of flux while Bill van Breda Kolff sorted out their during part of the game. Berling to regain academic eligibility. The starting team at Providence and New Haven.

COOK MOVES CLOSER

To All-Time Scoring Record. A pair of goals and an assist credited to Johnny Cook Saturday in the Yale hockey game brought him within five points of matching the career total set by John McBride. The Tigers' all-time standout another game on Tuesday of this week (see page 26), and seven remain on the schedule, so it is just a matter of time before he ranks as the highest scoring player in Princeton hockey history.

Cook's performance, plus a goal by Tony Fraker, Highland Lane resident, gave the Tigers a 3-2 lead midway through the New Haven contest. Thereafter, it was all Yale, the Elis making a firm bid to escape last place by pushing three goals past Billy Hill in the final six minutes of the second period.

The home team took lead early in the opening round, with an assist going to Pat Rulon-Miller, former Princeton resident, but the first of Cook's goals brought the Tigers even at 7:38. It was a hard shot from the right side, about 30 feet out.

The Bulldogs regained the advantage, only to have Cook score again nine seconds before the period ended. This time, he faked out the Elis goalie and hit from point-blank range.

Fraker Puts Tigers Ahead. At 8:22 of the second round, Cook and defenseman Dave Oliver set up Tony Fraker, the goal giving Princeton a 3-2 lead that lasted for six minutes. Yale's scoring barrage followed before the round ended and the third period was scoreless. The victors outshot the troubled Tigers, 49 to 26, Hill again giving a fine performance in the nets.

Dartmouth's Winter Carnival will provide the setting for Princeton's next Ivy League game in a contest that will play a part in determining the eventual collar-dewler. The Tigers have a victory over Brown to their credit, but the Green took an 8-1 record into Wednesday's game with title-bound Harvard. Next Wednesday, Princeton will play its return game with Yale in Baker Rink.

Princeton's well-balanced freshman team will also make the trip to Hanover, hoping to improve on its good 7-1 record. Coach Pete Cook's skaters topped Hamden High School, 5-1, on Friday, with Billy Lea making four of the goals, and broke up a scoreless tie in the middle of the third period on Saturday to blank West Haven High, 3-0.

Five Princeton Country Day alumni will play in Saturday's game at Hanover. Lea, Steve Cook, Howard McMorris and Bob Mueller are on the Princeton freshman squad; Charlie Stuart is starting at defense for the Dartmouth freshmen.

SWIMMERS LOSE
To Powerful Michigan. Replete with many holdovers from the team which won the NCAA championship last winter, Michigan's fine swimmers team easily defeated Princeton Saturday in Dillon Pool. A capacity crowd of almost 1,000 watched the Wolverines triumph, 63 to 32.

Three pool records were set. Michigan's scabbling, new marks in the medley relay (3:39.8) and the 500-yard freestyle (5:13.8). Princeton's fine backstroke artist, Jed Graef, covered the 200-yard course in 1:39.6 for a pool record.
Rutgers was on the schedule Wednesday, with a trip to Hanover to swim Dartmouth Saturday. Another Dillon Pool sellout looms for the meet against Harvard on the 16th.

PREF SCHOOLS DUE NEXT

As PHIS opponents. "There's trouble," was Tony Borzok's succinct summation of Mark Haley, high-scoring standout for Lawrenceville School, who is currently the leading point-maker in the Delaware Valley area. Haley, whose 22 points led the Larries to their sixth victory in eight contests Saturday, a 59-54 verdict over Blair, and his teammates will make the short trip north to Princeton Wednesday afternoon for a 9:30 clash with the equally-impressive Little Tigers of Princeton High.
Two days later, Peddie will march into town for its annual private school versus public school encounter with PHIS.

This Friday afternoon contest will also get underway at 9:30. The Blue and White has a week to prepare, having traveled to Ewing High School Tuesday evening for its second contest with the Blue Devils in 11 days. (For a report on this game, see page 26.)
According to PHIS coach Borzok, Lawrenceville has a veteran team, led, of course, by Haley. Peddie is led by a Spooner and, to the best of Borzok's knowledge, has been over his only once. One of the Old Blue and Gold's victories was registered over its neighbor and arch rival, Lawrenceville.

Both schools will be shooting to avenge 1962 defeats at the hands of the Blue and White. Princeton's upset victory over Peddie is a highly regarded Peddie squad at Princeton is generally regarded by Borzok as the ne plus ultra among the Blue and White's 16 victories last winter. In an artful contest, Borzok and the Little Tigers simply outsmarted the taller visitors.

No Predictions. Borzok declined to make any predictions on the outcome. "That's pretty close between games; it doesn't give us a chance to rest," he said obligingly. "We're at home. That should be an advantage, but I don't know; looks like

CHUCK BERLING

Basketball Player

Having lost three of its first five Ivy League games, including one on its own court, Princeton's basketball team was in need of new blood. The maximum in results seemed to have been achieved with the use of present personnel — but it was not quite enough.

Form reversal was essential against well-balanced Pennsylvania, and it was largely provided by a player whose name was not on the program. Unlabeled because he was still ineligible when the program went to press Wednesday, sophomore Chuck Berling was returned to approved academic status a scant day and a half before the game — when his last term-end examination grade met faculty approval.

Berling started against the Quakers, his first taste of varsity basketball, and the impact he provided was immediately visible. His early rebounding helped the Tigers to a quick lead; his capable defensive play contributed throughout the evening to the low (28%) shooting average compiled by the visitors; and his outside shooting was a major factor in the Tigers' ability to break a close game open early in the second half. Hopes are in the games to come that the solidibuilt redhead will continue to provide the balance that is needed to make Bill Bradley most effective. Certainly this was so in the vital victory over the Quakers, he hit on seven of his 14 floor shots and added three foul throws for 17 points. On several occasions, he shot virtually undefended, because Penn had sloughed off on Bradley.

Berling played only 34 minutes against Penn, drawing his fifth personal in the tight-guarding game. But in tight-guarding game. But in contrast to the first meeting between the two teams last month, when they battled down to the last few seconds, the outcome was no longer in doubt.

The big test of Princeton's new-found balance comes on the evening this weekend in Providence and New Haven. If Chuck Berling can translate his solid potential into something approximating the 20.4 points he averaged last year as a freshman, the Tigers may yet catch the front-runners at the wire.

we're doing better on the road." (PHS has won six of eight away from home.)

Friday evening, Freehold (11-10) proved to be no match for the Little Tigers as the visitors, hitting on over half of their shots from the floor in the first half, rolled to their biggest score of the season to post an easy 69-40 win. The victory was Princeton's eighth in 10 outings.

"It was a good one," said Borok. "They played us man-to-man from the start and our kids knew what to do. We just tore them apart."

Starting forward Larry Madden was ill and did not make the trip. In his absence Jimmy Case "filled in very nicely" and scored 14 points, his high for the season. Two other players also reached personal scoring highs in the contest: Tom Waters, former sixth player who Borok reverted to "in there to stay" hit for 12 points, while Dave Hill connected for nine, one more than his previous top effort which he had achieved on three occasions.

Captain Hank Schmidt led all scorers with 18. Center John Kowalski, outstanding again under the boards for PHS, added 14. He was six for seven from the free throw line to pace his teammates' 70% performance in free throws.

Princeton led 6-0, soon after the tap-off and increased its lead to 42-23 at the half. The Colonials started the third period by scoring six consecutive points but any hope of sustaining the rally was turned aside by line defensive play by Kowalski.

"Hank was out of this world," reported Borok of his team captain. "He did everything right. He fed off to Kowalski and Waters underneath, he dribbled and handled the ball perfectly."

"He made spectators out of Freehold — they just stood around and watched him dribble. It was a masterful performance. I'm glad it turned out that way," he added, "because it gave me a chance to play the bench."

Though perhaps not quite as masterful, the fine performance of 6-3 Tom Waters also drew praise from Borok. "Tom is starting to feel the position now," the coach said. "With Kowalski, that gives us two big men underneath the basket. He may not jump as high as Kowalski but he is strong; if he gets in front of his opponent, the guy is going to have to be at least six inches taller if he expects to get the ball away from Tom."

The Numbers Game. At the 11-game mark of an 18-game schedule, PHS added up this way for the statistics-minded. Blue and White has scored 453 points for a 51.6 average per game. It has limited its opponents to 493 points for a 44.8 per game.

Individually, the top scorers among the Little Tigers are captain Hank Schmidt, 166 for a 15.1 average; Larry Madden, 110 (10 games) for an 11-point average; John Kowalski, 111; 10-6 Jimmy Case, 61; and Dave Hill, 64. 5.8. Together they have scored 518 of the team's 563 points. Of the remaining 47, 36 have been garnered by Tom Waters.

The top scoring performance was Schmidt's 27 against Bridgewater-Baritan. Hank has hit double figures in all but one contest. The figures also bear out Borok's contention that Kowalski is the most improved player in Mercer County. John, who failed to reach double figures in any of Princeton's first six outings, has averaged 14 in the last five games.

The only other 20 or better effort by a Little Tiger was turned in again by Schmidt who tallied 21 against Hightstown in Princeton's opener. Behind Schmidt, the most consistent double-figure player has been Madden. He has turned the trick in seven out of ten games. Collectively, the Blue and White's high has been 69 against Freehold, its low, 34, against Hunterdon Central, a game it won by limiting Central to 22 points.

STANDING UNCHANGED

In Industrial League. There was no movement up or down among the eight teams of the YMCA Research and Industrial League, after another week of competition.

Unbeaten Sanning A. C. retained its iron grip on first place, as it won by default from McGraw Hill. Credit the weather with an assist. The victory upheld the league leaders' record to 9-0.

In other games, Educational Testing Service and RCA Labs, tied for second, here with 7-2 records, kept pace by scoring easy wins. Clarence Gilbert's 18-point performance led ETS to a 30-37 victory over Post Office, while L.A.B.s defeated Food Machinery & Chemical, 54-35. Carl Chianese was high with 18 for the victors. RCA Labs boasted to a 20 decision over wireless Hospital.

PROGRESS and the man

Progress and this man go hand in hand. Without the efforts of Thomas A. Edison, the world's progress could have slowed to a trickle near the turn of the century. But Edison's genius for producing practical innovations through electricity made it possible for us to surge forward into an era which has seen more scientific advancement than during the entire time of history itself... It is only fitting that each year National Electrical Week is observed at the time of Edison's birth, February 11. On Science Youth Day, part of National Electrical Week, Public Service Electric and Gas Company will open the doors of its generating stations to students and teachers. And as we do, we shall think of that man, Thomas A. Edison. Thanks to him, you live better electrically.

HUN'S HOPES ARE HIGH
For Homestretch Run. In contrast to an uneven, play-a-game-and-wait schedule in which Hun lost five of six contests in a 46-day span — an extended nightmare for prep school coaches created by Texas-assisted breakers for Christmas and mid-term examinations — the Red and Black will play its remaining six games in 20 days for a brisk rate of one almost every three days.

Hun coach Bob Simpson reported that he was confident the team would do better now that it was playing regularly. "I confess we are anxious to get out there and prove we can do a better job than we have been doing," he said.

Two important return contests, both Penn-Jersey League games, one against Solebury on its home court Friday afternoon and a Wednesday road tilt with Pennington School, will mark the start of Hun's homestretch run. Both schools defeated Hun earlier in the season.

Solebury, in particular, will be the object of a revenge-seeking Hun quintet. Last month at Solebury, against a backdrop of officiating that Hun contends was not first-rate, the Red and Black was the victim of a last-minute, 42-41 defeat. "We think we'll do much better this time on our home floor," said Simpson.

Lost in the Fog, Saturday's scheduled contest with Delbarton at Morristown was fogged out. "We got as far as Somerville but that was it. The fog was too thick," said Simpson. The game will be rescheduled but Simpson reported that no date had been selected yet.

KUDOS FOR KOWALSKI:

The most improved player in Mercer County, says PHS coach Tony Borzak of John Kowalski. The standout center has averaged 14 points per game in the last five contests and leads the team in rebounds.

Last Wednesday, Hun suffered its fourth league defeat and fifth of the season when it fell before home team Morestown Friends, 60-52. Alex Langel, Scott Page and Rich Pait combined for 49 of Hun's 32 points. Co-captain Langel was high for the losers with 19.

Hun lost it in the final minutes. "We were only behind by three near the end," said Simpson, "but we fouled out. We fouled out to get possession of the ball but it worked against us, as they converted 22 of 31." Hun led at the half, 26-23.

Despite the defeat, Simpson reported he was not disappointed. "In fact, I think it was our best game," he added. "It was a team effort; there were no offensive banners as there have been in the past. They beat us but not through any mistakes on our part."

SEVEN IN A ROW

For Larrie Swimmers, Paced by Captain Russ Kingery's record-breaking performance, the Lawrenceville swim team defeated Laverford School, 64-51, at Laving Field House pool Saturday to remain unbeaten in seven meets.

Kingery swam the 100-yard backstroke in 56.4 seconds for the national prep school record in that event and helped the 200-yard medley relay team set a school mark of 1:43.8. Phil Baker won both the 200- and 100-yard freestyle events. The Larries went after their eighth straight against Peddie at Hightstown on Wednesday. On Saturday, they will travel to Annapolis to swim the Navy Pitches.

The school's basketball team was seeking its seventh win in nine starts when it opposed the Perkiomen School on Wednesday. Jumping off to a 33-20 halftime lead, the Larries recorded a 39-45 victory over Blair Academy at Blairstown Saturday for their sixth win. Mark Haley led the attack with 22 points with assistance from Bob Moore, who had 12 points, and Mike San Philip with 11. The team will play host to Peddie on Saturday.

After dropping their eighth decision on the road, the Larrie skaters returned home for two weekend contests but found the change of scenery no cure for their ailments. After a 2-1 loss to the Hill School at Pottstown on Wednesday, the hockey team absorbed defeats nine and ten against West Haven High by score of 6-1 on Friday and Hamden High by a 6-2 margin on Saturday. The skaters remained home on Wednesday, looking for their second victory in a game with Lafayette Hockey Club. They will oppose West Essex High on Saturday.

BOWLING NOTES

Elks Take First Hail. The Princeton Elks finished the first half of the Industrial League season in first place with a total of 72 points. They clinched the top position with one victory in three contests last week. The Crescents were second with 68 points, eight in front of Para Lab.

Ed Lemore recorded the high individual game of the week with a 246 score. He was followed by Norman Luck, 210 and Ed Mike Kopliner, 204; Bob King, 202; George Ireland and Val Rianallo, 193 each; and Pete Homan, 192.

Mike Basile maintained a one-game lead in the Individual Class League over Guido Zinetti. Basile has a 35-19 record compared to Zinetti's 24-30 mark. Eighth-place Bill Redefield captured single-game honors with 232 pins for ten frames.

Other scores surpassing the 200 mark were rolled by Joe Ruberto, 221; Mike Zecchia, 214; Jack Lucy, 208; Zinetti, 202; and Fred Procazzini, 201. In the Tri-County Elks' League, Mercer Number Three and Princeton Number One both won two of three contests to remain tied for first place with 22 points apiece.

In a four-way tie for third place were Kingston, Rocky Hill, Kingston Fire Department and Lawrenceville, each with 16 points. Ken Luck accounted for both high single game and series with a 242-166-200-608 set. Following him in the first category were Jerry McGuffee, 234; Jiel Tedall, 214; Jack Rubart, 209; Mike Kopliner, 208; Ray Mielinski, 205; Nelson Davison and George Luck, each with 202.

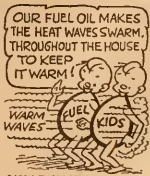

In "B" League action, three teams advanced into a four-way tie for the lead along with Walker. They were tied at a week before. The teams, with 14 points each, were Edwards, Mail Electric and Campus Taxi. Kase Kleenex, Spoken Number Two and Ivy Inn were tied for fifth place, two points off the pace.

Cooper & Schaefer increased its "A" League lead to 12 points with two victories in three games. Grover Lumber remained in second place with 64 points, eight ahead of Yeoman's and Knights of Columbus.

Conrad Daniels and Jim Brown each recorded scores of 284 for the top single game and Daniels had the top series of 595. Val Rianallo was second in both categories with a 221 in the single game and 591 set. Charles Per-

BUNN IS HONORED
As "Man of the Year," more than half a century of "dedicated and outstanding service" to the Princeton community by B. Franklin Bunn was recognized by the Chamber of Commerce Saturday when it gave him an unusual "Man of the Years" award. The ceremony took place at the annual dinner-dance held by the civic organization at the Nassau Inn.

Mr. Bunn accepted a bronze plaque in recognition of the chamber's appreciation of his numerous contributions to the town in which he has lived since the turn of the century. President of the Princeton Savings and Loan Association, he is the only man to have served as mayor of both the Borough and the Township.

Jean-Pierre Meyer, manager of Ramberg's-Princeton and Chamber president, was presented the "Gold Dollar" award by the board of directors for his "tireless leadership" during the past year. George B. Cook, president of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company, and Robert P. Popino of American Cyanamid, the Chamber's first vice-president, made the presentation to Mr. Meyer.

A silver cup, in recognition of outstanding service to the community and the Chamber during 1962, was given to Alan G. Frank. He is vice-president of Langrock, Inc.

"THIOS," FULL SCALE
On Display at Bank. The First National Bank's satellite bank on Nassau just beyond Hargett Street is displaying a full-scale model of THIOS, the weather observation satellite.

The life-size replica occupies a large part of one window and depicts two other satellites, Ranger 6 and Nimbus, are on the opposite side of the window. The model of the satellites represent the work of RCA's Astro-Electronics Division at Locust Carriers.

Six THIOS spacecraft have been successfully launched from Cape Canaveral, and Ranger 6 and Nimbus are scheduled for launching in the future. Ranger will carry six TV cameras to transmit pictures of the moon's surface, and the other Nimbus, an advanced weather satellite, is designed to provide greater global coverage of the earth's cloud cover than is possible at present.

RCA's programs are executed under contract to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Goddard Space Flight Center. The spacecraft are re-manufactured wholly or in part at the Locust Corner's plant under the overall direction of Barton Kreuzer and Sidney Sternberg, chief engineer of the Astro-Electronics Division. Dr. S. W. Spaulding is president of the firm. The Ranger, Abraham Schnapf for THIOS and I. H. Schwartzberg for Nimbus.

pelus pulled a 214 and Ernie Hunt collected 208 pins for the only other games to better 200.

Jefferson Plumbing, with 100 points on the season, maintained a ten-point lead over Deck's Dairy in the Women's Industrial League. The English Shop was in third place with 72 points. The English Shop's Total Benefit Life and six in front of Bill's Men's Shop. The Hamiltonian swept honors for both single-game and series. She had games of 204, 202 and 197 for a 543 set. Other outstanding scores were registered by Sara Rose, 169; and Evelyn Wallis, 178. Betty Frazer, 169 and 160; and Ann Hibbard, 163.

TIGER SIX BLANKED

By Strong Clarkson Team. Two hockey teams while proceeding in opposite directions Tuesday night in Baker rink, and the result was about as expected. Clarkson won its 13th game of the season. Princeton lost its 13th, and the score was 10 to 0. The Potsdam, N. Y., skaters, holding virtually a complete Canadian east, dominated action in full. For 18 minutes of the opening round, a scoreless deadlock prevailed, but before leaving for the dressing room, the visitors took care to jam in two goals in 30 seconds, and that lit the fuse.

Five more in the second period followed, raising the ante to 7-0. Goalsie Billy Hill has replaced in the Potsdam nets by Duke Sloan, who should have received some sort of award for sheer bravery. In the third period alone, the polished visitors launched 21 shots on target.

The losers had a couple of two-on-one breaks, and two or three more shots on the Clarkson goal, but with no defenseman nearby, but could not avert the whitewash. In their last five minutes, their average is now less than two goals a game.

PHIS GAINS REVENGE

Trims Ewing, 46 to 42. Beating a team on its own court after losing to it at home is always sweet revenge. Princeton High School's basketball team enjoyed just such an experience Tuesday when it topped Ewing, 46-42, on the Blue Devil floor.

The Little Tigers' defense again took much of the story, as they won despite a total output of only 13 points in the second and third periods. The quarterly totals:

PHS — 15 8 5 18-46
Ewing — 7 12 11 12-42

Despite the low-scoring, close-guarding game, the Blue Devils had three of its starters in double figures. Captain Hank Schmidt produced John Kowalski, 11, and steadily-improving Johnny Watson, 10. The victors had a two field goal deficit in floor shooting. Ewing dropping in 19 to 17 for Princeton High, but the 12 free throws converted by the Little Tigers to only four for the losers spelled the difference.

TOWNSHIP TERRORS WIN

When Borough Rally Falls it is no simple matter to record exactly what happened in the first annual basketball game between the Borough and the Township held Tuesday evening at the Valley Road gymnasium. For the 100 or so spectators who witnessed the special clash, there was a little bit of everything.

With shots hitting the ceiling, wild passes to one and another, and a few hard fouls, Borough Chief of Police Pete "Gunner" McCrohan racing down the court in Madras shorts, black leather sneakers, red faces . . . the laughs were built-in. For those who like a little mayhem, Borough Administrator Bob "Big Daddy" Mooney and Ralph "Shad" Proteremo — aided by some restraint on the part of Van Skillman and Frank Balducci, the referees — punched, tackled and committed innumerable atrocities.

For purists who like their basketball less adulterated, there was a genuinely exciting game, won in the last 90 seconds by the Township, 47 to 45. Trailing by ten points, 33-23, at the start of the final period, the old men of the Borough tied it up at 39-39 on two free throws by Harry Kahn and again at 41-41 on two by Stanley Sweeney. Sweeney, Township team realigned with six straight points on two fouls by Township engineer Frank Quimby, and baskets by Howard Sweeney and Jack Petrone.

That did it, and the upset-minded Borough meekly resumed its role as the hole in the doughnut. The only uniform aspect of the contest were the red jerseys worn by the Township Terrors. The Borough Bulldozers were more casually attired. In addition to the aforementioned "Gunner" McCrohan, "Bernard" "Red" Glover wore light blue pants, a white T-shirt trimmed in red with "Engine Company No. 1" lettered across it in blue, while Kahn was outfitted in red plaid shorts, grey shirt and yellow socks. But no motorcycle.

News Of The CHURCHES

First in a series of reviews written for TOWN TOPICS by Princeton clergymen, commenting upon books which they find exciting and provocative. The author this week is the Rev. Charles W. Marker, pastor of the Princeton Methodist Church.

THE CREATIVE YEARS by Reuel L. Howe Seabury, 1959 (sixth printing 1961)

This book lying open before me, is one of those which speak from life to life. It is full of mature wisdom and immensely meaningful. "The Creative Years" is very readable, even for the young adult, who may be misled by the subtitle, "A Mature Faith for Adult Life." Just recently a young friend in her early twenties expressed delight with it.

"To My Mother," writes the author in his dedication, "who is in her eighty-first creative year." Perhaps it was she who taught him those first lessons in the kind of creative living he sets forth so appealingly in "The Power of the Personal," "The Secret of Our Creativity," "Your Work And You," "The Role of Sex In Love," "Five Ways to Creative Marriage," "From Secrecy to Marriage," and other chapters.

Few stories are as moving as the true story of Jan Foster recalled from her far retreat into severe psychosis by an artist and a lump of clay.

HISTORIC
PRE-REVOLUTIONARY
HOUSE FOR SALE

This antique brick has been looking down its tall nose at the Princeton scene since Nassau Street was merely a muddy lane. In the early eighteenth century, a homesick sea captain added the double balconies to recall his native Charleston. The large, square, peaceful rooms seem to preserve within its solid walls something of the tranquility and charm of life in a small college town of years gone by. Six bedrooms and three baths make it a divine house for a large family with lots of books.
